

Chuck Kilo, MD, MPH

CEO, GreenField Health
Executive Director, Trust for Healthcare Excellence

Dr. Chuck Kilo is a general internist, the CEO of GreenField Health and the Executive Director of The Trust for Healthcare Excellence. GreenField Health is an R&D focused medical group providing comprehensive and personal primary care services. From 1995 to 2000, he was a vice-president at the Institute for Healthcare Improvement.

The Trust for Healthcare Excellence is a non-for-profit 501c3 whose mission is to promote the collective efforts and conditions necessary for health and health care excellence. In 1998, Chuck started the international Idealized Design for Clinical Office Practices that helped to create the foundation for what is now called the Patient-Centered Medical Home. He works regularly with the American Board of Internal Medicine, the American Academy of Family Physicians, the American College of Physicians and others on issues of health policy and health system reform. In 2005, Chuck and Dr. Mark Leavitt wrote a book entitled Medical Practice Redesign with Information Technology. In March 2008, he was a US representative to a Europe-US working meeting on primary care and health system design.
